Forum looks at fire policy

How to avoid another summer of 2000?

By N.S. Nokkentved Times-News writer

BOISE - Forest fires in Idaho this year were among the largest in many years, and experts predict more large fires in the future. The question is how to reduce the damage those fires cause to homes and resources. WASHINGTON - Suppose there were 9,000 uncounted votes and the final margin separating the two candidates was 103 votes. Must those votes be counted?

That was the question lawyers for Vice President Al Gore pre-sented squarely to the Florida Supreme Court Thursday.

President moves to ease crowded skies

WASHINGTON (AP) – Just weeks before he'll have to give up Air-Force One and fly commercial like everyone else, President Clinton took steps on Thursday to end frustrating flight delays.

Clinton issued an executive order that shifts responsibility for the nation's air traffic control system to an independent management unit within the Federal Aviation Administration.

for the nations air trainic contingsystem to an independent management unit within the Federal Aviation Administration.

Managing traffic in the crowded skies will still be done at the FAA, but the new unit, called the Air Traffic Organization, will operate separately from the agency's regulatory and enforcement arms.

"The FAA's 20-year effort to modernize its air traffic controllecthology simply has not been able to keep pace with either the emergence of new technology or the growth and demand for air travel," Clinton said in making the announcement to more than 100 representatives from consumer and passenger rights groups, airline executives, aircraff manufacturers, congressional staff and government officials.

It is money in excess of what the state needs, and it was supplied by taxpayers. The obvious step is to return the money to those who paid it.

But special interests, and their legislative allies, are licking their chops in anticipation of big slices of taxpayer pie. Idaho lawmakers should brace themselves for lots of sad stories that need state money for a happy ending. Should all of the surplus be returned? No. The prudent, conservative course is to pay the state's bills, set some money aside for a rainy day, and fund a few, carefully chosen new programs.

Yes, Virginia, there is a president

Dear Editor:

Jam 8 years old. Some of my little friends say there is no president of the United States. Papa says, "If you see it in the newspaper it's so." Please tell me the truth, is there a president?

-Virginia O'Hanlon

-Vurginia O'Hanlon, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe except what they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's or, in particular, Florida voters, are little. In this great country of ours, man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence incapable of grasping the punch-card ballot.

Yes, Virginia, there will be a president.

-JIM-SHEA-

He will someday exist as certainly as dimpled chads and butterfly ballots and hand recounts, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! How dreary would be MSNBC if there were no president! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginia.

There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance, no snippiness to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight and "The West Wing." The external light with which the presidency fills the world would be extinguished. Not believe in the president! You might as well not believe in soft money.

Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in politics are those that neither children nor Nader voters can see. Did you ever see fairlies dancing or the White House lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the loopholes there are unseen and unsecable in the world.

Only lawyers, spin doctors, pinditis and Katherine Harris can push saide that we jung booth currain and view and pictures the supernal beauty and glory beyond; it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world, there is nothing else real and abiding, dip president! Thank God! He lives and lives forew. Of course, it may be a thousand years from now, Virginia, nay 10 times 10,000 years from now, but eventually the appeal process will come to an end and make glad the heart of childhood.

Portland practices tolerance
You know, this violates a basic rule of mine, which is to never reply to a Times-News editorial, the thought being that when your toddler does something really obnoxious or stupid one should just ignore it. That being said, we feel that the editorial written a few weeks ago-about Portland being the No. 1 city to live in just has to be commented on. Ya see, it just touched some bit of wholesome truth. Having jived there for four years and gotten a bit a educashun at the medical school up on the hill there, I sorta got a feel for the place. Course, I know you all (what wrote that editorial) shore musta lived there too, else how could you be such a expert also. Anyhow, I got to thinking, and you dang near came out and said it, but didn't quite. 'Cause I think that you all know that you shouldn't be the one to say such a awful word right out there on your own editorial page. But I think someone oughta, so I will.

Those p-ople over there practice that most liberal and ungodly thing in this fine country, which is - telerance. Dang, I hatte quay it, but there it is. So you are shore right on there with thinking that they are too different from us. Or at least you. Thanks for speaking for us. And thanks for that great joke at the end, where you say the next president is gonna have to pull us all together. It sounds so funny when you ary. KEVIN KRAAI.

Let's make election changes

Let's hope some changes are made in our nation's voting process before the our nation's voting process before the next election.

First, why not move President's Day from February to November, Election Day, each four years and give everyone the day off to vote for president?

If every vote counts, then we should do this and how better- to home our presidents and promote democracy?

Secondly, we should separate the presidential ballot to a secure, modern system of its own. These candidates go through a tortuous campaign for two years and, at the end, we candidates go through a tortuous campaign for two years and, at the end, we can't declare a winner.

It tends to make us a banana republic and is intolerable.

The other ballot ran be used to elect members of Congress, state offices, county offices, judges and, of course, the initiatives that turn every voting place into a library reading room.

Another improvement in primary elections would be adding from a control of the show. Any show the would give tester candidates.

Australia has a voting process that garners 95 percent or more citterns voting on a regular basis. We should study these other successful model were a train or the media. The process of the process of

We should oversee those we elect It's both amazing and infuriating to watch and listen to Al Gore's whitwind of lies and attempted manipulations.
Each time he and his spokesmen rant about this election, I'm reminded of a spoiled child playing games with the newkid and throwing a fit when the new kid wins. Gore's shown us his equivalent of thim brat's kicking, screaming tantrum.

the properties of the constitution of public service continues to rely on division to gain what he didn't win. Of course, as with the penulan child, we must realize that no matter the anger felt toward Gore, he ultimately isn't to blame.
When confronted with hysteria, unreasmalle demands and no discipline in a child, we know that an overindulgent ulphringing and no parental oversight are to blame. Along that same line, the tidocy of this election can only be blamed on us, the American people. We don't demand accountability or excellence from our representatives. We don't discipline them for wongoding or inepritude. We don't demand they uphold the foundational laws and principles on which this nation stands. We honor feeling - subject to each individual - over truth, fact or responsibility. Thus, we the people have opened the gates for the pertiness, selfish greed and lust for what should be a position of honor and service.

It boils down to this: A presidential contest, conducted under the same rulesas those of previous generations, ended in a close win for the "new kid." Feeling bad about losing, Gore has taken this nation to new depths of embarrassment. Something I thought impossible after the last eight years).

Gore's shallow claims of "every vote must count" and fairness can't hide the threats, intimidation, selective "fairness" and whininess that distinguish Gore and liberalism in general. The transparent motives of self-interest that pervade our government and judiciary are to our shame.

Yes, Gore should know better. htm

Chisholm exemplifies 'activist'

Chisholm exemplifies 'activist'
Mr. Lewis Ellers, executive director of the Idaho Dairymen's Association, made a statement in the Nov. 28 Times News that he is getting sick and tired of playing Bill Chisholm's game. However, the difference between Mr. Ellers' game and Bill Chisholm's is Mr. Eilers' paycheck.
English is my second language, so I can say that I haven't been corrupted by the prejudice of the word 'activist.' What I have learned about the meaning of the word, "activist," is through Bill Chisholm's actions. To me, he has defined the word to mean a person with attributes of integrity, unsellishness, -courage, perseverance, commitment and unpretentiousness. But best of all Is that money, power and greed are not the motivation for Bill's actions. Whatever he does he does because he cares about the well-being of the people and the health of our environment. He believes that we are responsible for the quality of life for future generations.

The United States is the most advanced country in the world which can send men to the moon and a nation where the people have the freedom and opportunity to strive for higher ideals and a better quality of life. However, I was surprised to read in The Times-News that there are a few people who seem to strive only for meat and milk. Apparently, hey don't care about the hazardous stench that filters through their lungs and the contamination of the water that they drink as long as they have meat and dairy products to eat. It would be reprehensible for me to lower my intellect to the instinct level of animals—to be concerned only about what's filling my stomach. What a waste of o'r freedom and opportunity!

Bill Chisholm is not anti-business or filling my stomach. What a waste of our freedom and opportunity!

Bill Chisholm is not and business or progress as you branded him, Mr. Ellers!

He's intelligent and has the ability to see things that some peeple don't have the ability to see, and he knows that progress without common sense will be destructive in the long ruf. Bill only opposes those businesses that will destroy the environment and other people's quality of life. It is easy to pollute the air and contaminate the water, but it may be impossible to clean up the aquifer afore we recklessly poison it. Mr. Ellers, Illies. Bill Chisholm's game. It stimulates my intelligence, challenges my knowledge, and it has the right score card!

Local students to receive Crapo's nomination are Sterling, Anderson of Declo and Kyle Paslay of Heyburn, U.S. Air Force Academy, and Adam Jussell of Twin Falls and Ty Popplewell of Buhl, U.S. Naval Academy.

Crapo's office noted that the announcement fell on the same, day Japan bombed Pearl Harbor, Dec 7, 1941, an event that spured many young Americans to sign up for military service.

"I selected this day to announce mominations, in order to honor World War II veterans and the 2001 nominees. I am very proud of these young people and our veterans," Crapo said in a news release Thursday.

Proponents hope Clinton will preserve an area larger than four Rhode Islands from mining, off-road vehicles and destruction of archaeological and natural wonders. But some southwest Idaho residents do not share that goal.

The area's grasslands have been a battleground in the fight over federal grazing policy between Jon Marvel's Idaho residents do not watersheds Project and Owyhee County ranchers.

"It's a government land grab, pure and simple," Nampa resident Bob Parker said. "There's nothing out there that needs protection from the people that live on that land or who go there just to enjoy it."

Commissioners hope to avoid dispute litigation dispute without going into litiga-tion. Undating Elko County com-missioners on the Jarbidge road dispute, Deputy District Attorney Kristin McQueary said U.S. Magistrate Judge Robert McQuaid has offered to act as a "settlement judge" in the matter. McQuaid suggested a settlement conference during a hearing late last month in Reno, New, when he set the schedule for a potential trial battle.

trial battle.

McQueary said a settlement conference would be more direct than mediation. In a conference, all parties – the U.S. Forest Service, Elko Couny, the state of Novada and the organizers of the "Jarbidge Rebellion," a group of local citizens that supports rebuilding the road – would sit down with the judge and discuss their stances. In mediation, an arbitrator would direct the discussion in hopes of reaching an agreement acceptable to everyone. The feud centers on a 112-mile stretch of dirt road in the Humboldt-Toiyabe National Forest that leads to a campground at the edge of a wilderness area. The road was washed out by floods in 1995. Federal authorities have blocked reopening the road, because they contend the work will damage the habitat of the threatened bull rout. County officials contend the road is theirs because it existed long before the national forest was formed.

The county, along with leaders of the Jarbidge Rebellion, were in mediation with the U.S. Forest Service and other federal agencies for several months. A proposed settlement agreement was written during the previous mediation, but Elko County refused to Sign it.

Elko attorney Grant Gerber, an organizer of the Jarbidge Rebellion, told commissioners he is confident the Jarbidge Rebellion and the county will prevail in mediation. Gerber said future talks "may short circuit the process and we may end up with a decision faster and cheaper."

ELKO, Nev. - County commissioners on Wednesday turned down a request from the Elko County School District to use the new Jackpot library as an interim classroom.

County School District to use the new Jackpot library as an interin classroom. Elko County Library Director Sara Jones said the school district had asked to use the yet unfinished facility while a science lab at Jackpot High School is being remodeled. She said the library was scheduled to be completed this month, but the shelving and other interior furnishings have not been ordered. She said these fixtures were the school district's share of the new library under a cooperative agreement between the two entities.

Commissioner Nolan Lloyd told other members of the board that the school district had not yet placed the items out for bid and did not intend to do so until January. Commissioner Mila January. They are part of the company's larger plan to provide PCS coverage throughout southern Idaho.
PCS, a "one number" wireless telephone service allows ever age unroughout southern toans telephone service, allows custelephone service, allows custelephone service, allows custelephone service and one volcemail box – for their home, office and cellular phone. Incoming calls essentially follow the customer around.

The corporation purchased the rights from the Federal Communications Commission for PCS coverage throughout an area of Idaho. The FCC license requires Clear Talk Wireless to provide coverage to 85 percent of Power cutbacks hit California hard

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—
Caught in a power crunch even before winter has begun, California ordered some major commercial users to cut back on electricity Thursday and warmed the public of the possibility of rolling blackouts.

The crunch has been blamed on cold weather in the Northwest, the shutdown of some, power plants for repairs, and the effects of electrical deregulation in California.

Companies and individual consumers who had previously agreed to reduce or shut down their power in emergencies were

California can't import electricity because "all the surrounding states are in a similar predicament, especially the Northwest. The imported power instravailable," said 180 spokeswoman Stephanie McCorkle,
The phased in deregulation of California's $20 billion electrical power industry was supposed to lower prices by creating greater competition. But demand for electricity has outstripped supply because of a growing population, a booming high-tech economy, and less power available from neighboring states that haven't deregulated.

COEUR 'ALENE - Idaho regulators want federal safety officials to take a hard look at the Yellowstone pipeline.

Disastrous pipeline explosions in New Mexico this year and western Washington last year have brought new scrutiny to the issue. Now state officials wonder if the Yellowstone Pipe Line Co. is flirting with disaster.

An Idaho Dopartment of Environmental Quality official sent a letter on Wednesday asking the federal Office of Pipeline Safety if her concerns are justified. We have a huge safety concern, a huge environmental concern, a huge environmental concern, as fuge environmental concern, a huge environmental concern, a huge environmental concern, a huge safety compliance officer. "We'd rather fault on the side of safety here."

The Yellowstone pipeline carries jet fuel, gasoline and dieselfrom Billings, Mont., refineries to Moses Lake, Wash. In Idaho, the pipeline crisscrosses the North Fork of the Coeur d'Alene River.

Pipeline officials say they are working hard to limit environmental risk, and state officials say they and to work with the company to resolve any problems.

"I am changing from being the message former to the message deliverer," Gordon Crow said. "Instead of making the law, I'm going to try and make policy understood."

The former three-term Republican from Hayden will join the Department of Health and Welfare on Monday as a public information officer. Herelaces Ross Mason, who has been promoted to senior public information office.

Appropriately, said Bill Walker, who runs the public information office.

Recent legislation has a dozen or more intent clauses that spell-out the agency sobjectives. Crow will help explain them to Medicaid providers and beneficiaries.

Panel releases final report on incineration alternatives

JACKSON, Wyo. – A panel created by the U.S. Department of Energy to settle a lawsuit has concluded there are other ways to destroy dangerous chemicals in nuclear waste, including some that give off considerably less pollution.

pollution.

The committee was charged with finding alternatives to incineration at the Idaho National Engineering and Environmental Laboratory. Its final report was released earlier this week.

Lauoratory. Its tinal report was released entiler this week.

No single technology may work on all the types of waste the Energy Department will need to handle over the next decades, and the newer treatment methods will require more research and testing, members concluded. But the panel believes it will be possible to treat the INEEL's waste and meet stare cleanup agreements without incineration, 'chairman Ralph Cavanagh said. "The panel has concluded there are promising alternatives to incineration," he said. "They all require extensive R&D. They all require substantial increases in DOE budgets."

GOP governor champions death-penalty reform SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Death penalty opponents around The country have found an unlikely champion to bolster the redibility of their movement tough-on-crime Republican Gov. George Ryam of Illinois, Ryan did the unexpected early this year by halting all execuThous in Illinois, saying he could not be sure the system can keep impocent people from being put to death. Gov. George Ryam has helped sustain interest by crisscrossing the innocent people from being put innocent people from being put in death. In additional properties of the people from dath row after they were swonerated or found to have go they make the people from dath row after they were the formation unifar trials - a "shameful doord," Ryan said in announcing the moratorium in January.

Alls decision thrilled death behalty opponents. They greet Ryan with standing ovations, give him awards and praise him as the premier example of a leader supporting the death behalty but questioning how it is applied.

Moratorium

Ryon has helped sustain interest by crisscrossing the country to discuss his moratorium. He has testified before Congress and delivered frequent speeches, including three in the past week.

He may be more popular around the country than in his home state, thanks to a federal corruption investigation into the secretary of state office's Ryan held before becoming governor.
An exit poll of Illinois voters on Election Day found only onethird approve. of Ryan's performance. Ryan, who faces re-election in two years, has not been accused of any wrongdoing in the scandal, which involves the selling of driver's licenses.

The gruff political veteran last drew national attention – and the anger of liberals – in 1982, when he used his power as speaker of the Illinois House to help defeat the Equal Rights Amendment.

In his two years as governor, Ryan, 66, has pushed through tougher sentences for criminals who use guns, increased the number of state police and added prisons. He has long supported the death penalty and let one man be executed before imposing the moratorium.

"I was a part of the great American body who saw a nation man be executed before imposing the monatorium.

"I was a part of the great American body who saw a nation in the grip of increasing crime rates, inner cities becoming armed camps and ever-growing violence in our streets, in our schools, and sometimes even in our places of worship." Ryan told a New York bar association group on Wednesday. "Since those days, a lot has happened to shake my faith in the death penalty system."

Having a Republican admit such doubts helps reach people who might ordinarily disniss critics of the death penalty, activists say. Ryan's stand has made it easier for others to discuss the importance of DNA testing or flaws in the legal process.
Ryan acknowledges he has found common ground with some unlikely ground with some unlikely ground with some unlikely ground with some unlikely against the death penalty. ACLU against the death penalty - these weren't really my type of people. Now, they re giving me awards," Ryan said during an appearance at Harvard University.
Ryan has been careful not to criticize other governors, saying his concerns apply to Illinois and not necessarily to other states. Ryan served as Illinois campaign chairman for Gov. George W. Bush, who has overseen more than 100 executions in Texas.

'Bedaziod'

The best thing is its perfectly cast stars: Elizabeth Hurley as the tart-tongued devil and especially Brendan Fraser. But as written by Larry Gelbart, director Harold Ramis and Peter Tolan, the film, though amusing from moment to moment, is erratic, anfocused and uncertain where it's going, (1:33. 'The Butterfiv'

The touching story a preco-cious boy and his grandfatherly schoolteacher in the days before Spain's Republica fell to the Fascists in 1936. Interesting characters and strong performances, however, are undermin-med by the movie's heavy aller-gory — everything represents something else.

drinch Sible Christmas'
This is one overstuffed movie, but it's by no means a turkey. The film's frenetic attempts to create a full-length feature film out of a slender, albeit beloved, 1957 children's book can be exhausting, however, the lively and amiable spirit of the endeavor converts our inner curmudgeon just as the spirit of Christmas eventually overpowered that larcenous Grinch. Making that stretch possible is Ron Howard's balanced direction, a cheefful and inviting look guided by production designer Michael Corenblith and visual effects supervisor. 'The Legend of Bagger Vance'

"Mis Legend of Bagger Vance" A highly polished geneel fancasy about the game of golf and its relation to, yes, the game of life, this Robert Redford-directed film is so carnest in its storytelling it negates a charismatic performance by Will Smith and

The kindest thing that can be said about this latest vanity pro-ject from Adam Sandler is that it's unapologetically juvenile. A deeply unfunny fantasy comedy about a family feud between the devil's three sons, it's not a dan-gerous movie, just a stupid one. (1:29. PG-13 for crude sexual humor, some drug content, la guage and thematic material.)

wy's equivalent to Michael Jordan leaving the owner's box and putting on a jersey again. Super Mario, indeed. History will be made the first time the Hall of Famer pulls down his retired No. 66 from Mellon Aren's rafters and wears it again, if only because he will be the first in the modern era to own a major pro sports team and play for it at the same time. Lemieux, 35, must relinquisth his spot on the NHL's Board, of Governors and probably will disassociate himself from most of the team's day-to-day business affairs, but can remain as owner.

TALLAHASSEE, Fia. – Chris Weinke was a 24-year-old freshman when he walked into his first colege class four years ago, looked around at the teen-agers and asked innself, "What am I doing here?"

Weinke wasn't just worried about getting ready for football at Florida State after a seven-year layoff. There were the courses too. "Some people think it's hard to come back and play football after seven years," he said. "Try to come back and read a book when you haven't picked up a book in seven rears."

Weinke has conquered both, and on Saturday could become the school's second Heisman Trophy winner after leading Florida State-to its third straight appearance in the national championship game with a record-breaking season.

leaderboard Thursday in the first round of the World Cup of Golf.

"I was a Jockey, I just rode myhorse all day," said Woods, who combined with Duval for an 11-under 61 in the opening best-ball round." I didn't really strike the ball as good as I like, and I wasn't as sharp as I needed to be."

Thousands of spectators followed Woods and Duval, who played alongside Argentina's Eduardo Romero and Anigel Cabrera on the Buenos Aires Colf Club course.

Duval, who only a day earlier had answered questions about how he felt being the side act to the Tiger show, essentially shouldered the American team, the defending champion in search of its sixth ittle in the last decade and 22nd overall. "We didn't play, either one of us, as well as we could have cared to," Duval said. "But at least we stayed close, and so we have a chance."

Duval and Woods finished the day tied for fifth, four strokes behind Romero and Cabrera and New Zealand's Frank Nobilo and Greg Turner. The 24 teams will play an alternate-shot round Sunday.

Woods made only two birdies.

"I didn't really hit the ball as good as I would have liked, but I hit it close enough where I had some putts," he said. "And I hit a lot of good putts on the front nine that just didn't go in. They were just hanging on the lip."

Wood's frustrations crested on the back nine.

Wood's Instrations crested on the back nin proach shot on the 12th hole, he hit into the water. Luckily for Woods, Duval sank a short putt for birdle. A few holes later, Woods' putt for cagle veered wide. On the 16th, he missed another birdle attempt, his face twisted in frustration.

Asked if the 12-hour flight from California might have had taken a toll on his play, Woods said: "Don't confuse tired with being a little disappointed and angry."

NBA scouts hawk high school prospects

ST. LOUIS (AP) – A game matching the nation's top high school centers, Eddy Curry and Tyson Chandler, didn't quite live up to expectations Thursday right.

All but two of the 29 NBA teams sent a répresentative to see the 6-foot-11, 310-pound

Curry of Chicago Thornwood and the 7-1, 230-pound Chandler of Compton Dominguez, Calif., in the finale of the eight-game, one-day Shootout. Both players had 16 points, but both knew they had not done their best. Most of the crowd of 13,206 was not around for the fin-ish of a tight game won by Dominguez, 54-50. Curry didn't start because he missed practice earlier in the week due to flu, and was still bit ill. He also was off his game, missing seven of eight shots in the first half and going 5 for 18 overall.

"You didn't see the real Eddy

The NHL board must approve

Commos nem so.

The NHL board must approve such an arrangement but, given the chance to sell tickets for Lemieux's comeback tour, it's doubtful any NHL owner would seriously fight his return.

And look at it this way. What other owner could lure Mario Lemieux out of retirement and pay him only minimum wage? Of course, no other owner could get a huge boost at the box office by putting himself in uniform, either.

"I came in today and I heard a scream from the back room," said Jaromir Jagr, who replaced

Lemieux as the Penguins' leader and hockey's dominant leader and hockey's dominant scorer.

"They were saying on the radio that Mario might come back. I think a lot of guys are really happy. Now they're going to get to play with a legend."

If Lemieux can play at amywhere near his previous level—and many hockey historians consider the sixtime NHL scoring champion to be the most gifted player ever—he would instantly elevate the Fenguins to a prime contender for the Stanley Cup.

The Wolverines also sport three of the leagues top

Keys to the weekend include rebounding, limiting

"Those are two strengths that we have to take advantage of.
"We're just taking care of ourselves. We're not so worried about what they're doing, we're just more we're do to be to taking care of us."

The "us" seems to be functioning just fine. A stellar defense has been the Eagles' early season forte, as CSI has recorded 56 blocks while producing a whopping 149 steads and a 14 assist-to-turnover ratio.

Zeck is pleased with the early figures.
"We definitely improved (last weekendly," he said. "We still need to improve. We're not going to play great every game, but we've made strides."

Notes: Jason Brazier's sprained ankle has healed enough for the sophomore to play this weekend... The flu bug went through the team this week, hitting Blandon Ferguson, Ben Eze, Uthe Okafor and Zeck... Admission is free for this weekend's games if fans bring either a can of food or an unwrapped toy... Due to the setup for Ty Detmer's Wednesday morning speech to a group of Boy Scouts in the CSI gymnasium, the team practiced Tuesday night at Twin Falls High... Zeck said Ricky Clemons' lack of playing time Saturday night was a result of the North Carolinan's recent lack of consistency... It's not too late to sign up for the team's Junior Eagles camp Saturday morning – call 7339554, Ext. 2473 for information.

Women

substitution pattern," Grant lamented. "That's the one negative about this week is I have to adapt to a new substitution pattern when I was just finally learning how to substitute with the whole team."

But Grant is confident the rest of his team can pick up the pieces in the post. He'll look mainly to 6-0 sophomore Trisha Gardiner, 6-0 freshman Elisha Booth and 5-11 freshman Katie Wadsworth.

Booth has been an unstoppable dynamo so far. Coming into tonight's matchup with the 7-1 Bruins, the freshman out of Boise's Centennial High ranks ninth in the league in scoring (13-6) and sixth in rebounding (6-3).

"That's been a focus of this last week is figuring out exactly where we want to run the offense to use Elisha and Trisha to our best advantage, "Grant said." It opens up an awenue for Gardiner to step up and she deserves that. She's worked hard and done some good things."

"It opens up. an avenue for Gardiner to step up and she deserves that. She's worked hard and done some good things."

It also forces more work upon the CSI perimeter game, where sophomores Jinga Gosschalk (11.5 ppg. 43 rpg.) and Natalia Kortisova (5.4 ppg. 3.3 rpg) will have to get busy around the boards.

That won't be easy against the league's top—rebounding team. The Wolverines average 50.2 rebounds per game with two of the league's top five rebounders in 6.4 Ashleigh Chamberlain (7.3 rpg.—11.2 ppg.) and 5-11 Kristen Saliby (7.4 rpg. 10.3 ppp.)—Besides Saliby and Chamberlain (17.3 rpg.—11.2 ppg.) and 5-11 Kristen Saliby (7.4 rpg. 10.3 ppp.)—Besides Saliby and Chamberlain, UVSC also returns double-digit scorers Bekka Carlson (11.4 rpg.) and Hillary Wallace (10.8 ppg.)—Though Salt Lake is ninth with 36.4 rebounds, the Lady Bruins still have tough-minded Mata Tukuafu (8.3 rpg. 13.1 ppg.) guarding the glass.

Grant knows the weekend poses a big threat to CST's current unbeaten record starting tonight with a Bruins team that swept Southern Idaho last season. "They're going to doglight you the whole game," Grant said "They've got a solid inside game with Tukuafu and (Marie) Worsham and they've got a quick point guard in (Kim) Hememay."

Grant said Salt Lake is on the small side, but will try to run the floor and do some halfcourt trapping along with its standard man defense.

He counting on an improved Treasure, Valley team—to give Saurudy's opponent UVSC some fits.

"Treasure Valley is playing some better basketball this year, which puts more pressure on those teams when they go down," he said. "This week especially, (teams) better be careful about going down there."

Around the league, Grant said it's wide open with the exception of defending region champion Ricks College. The Vikings are tall, talented and extremely deep.

"They're an excellent team," Grant said. "But I think it's a tvical season to the sum it is the form of with the with the archiston of defending region champion Ricks College. The Vikings are College. The VIKINGS are usin such controlled the deep.

"They're an excellent team," Grant said. "But I think it's a typical season. Anybody who can win the conference tournament and go on to nationals has, I think, an excellent chance of winning this year."

"At-the least, Grant would like to go into the holi-

"It's going to be a fun battle this season," he said.
"It'd be nice to be 10-0 going into Christmas."

Huskies coach gets another go at the Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) - On the morning of the biggest game of his life, the ULA quarterback was so sick the coaches banned him from the team bus.

Rick Neuheisel, now the Washington Huskies' coach, got just the right medicine - a chewingout by his father and an emotional jolt simply by running onto the field.

Washington head coach Rick Neuhelsel gestures as he speaks at a news con ference in Pasadena, Calif. Thursday. Neuhelsel and Purdue head coach Joe Tiller discussed their teams' participation in the 87th Rose Bowl Game.

Illier discussed their teams' participation looked like Joe Fan. He was just going crazy at the buses," Neuheisel said. "It was the first time I had smiled all day, said, Look at that guy." He sees me and immediately his face turns ashen, matching mine. "He says. What's the matter?" I said, 'I have food poisoning, 'I capected this loving arm around me and he looks at me and says. This is no time to get sick!" Neuheisel said, imitating his

In the 87th Nose Bowl usme. I father's sternness. "He gave me a chewing-out, as if I done this to myself on purpose." I remember thinking, 'Well, I guess I better play."
He was woozy as he and his teammates waited to run into the noisy stadium, packed with more than 100,000 fans.
"Then we ran on the field and it was the most magical moment of my life. It was like I was floating. I never felt sick again the rest of the day," Neuheisel said.

He had a memorable game, throwing for 298 yards and four touchdowns as the underdog Bruins ended Illinois' 10 game winning streak with a 45-9 victory. Neuheisel, who became the UCLA starter as a senior after originally being a walk-on, was voted the Roce Bowl MVP.

Tiller, who listened intently while the Huskies' coach was recounting that day in 1984, grinned and asked: "Where did you eat your pregame meal?"

Neuheisel, who obviously wouldn't mind if quarterback Drew Brees and the rest of the Bollermakers dined at that same restaurant on Dec. 31, chuckled and replied: "I was going to tell you that they've got some great steaks ower there in Westwood."

The coaches agreed that the 87th Rose Bowl figures to be an offensive showcase, with the 14th-ranked Bollermakers Brees the nation's total offense leader, and the No. 4 Huskies' Marques Tuiasosopo the only player in KOAA history to run for 200 yards and throw for 300 yards in a single game.

The Huskies (10-1) will be making their 14th Rose Bowl appearance, their first since a 38-31 loss to Michigan in 1933. Purdue (83) has played in just one previous Rose Bowl, a 14-13 victory over Southern California in 1967.

clinch at St. Louis

A lot of people still believe in the St. Louis Rums, who have lost four of five and five of seven games. Just look at the odds for their game with Minnesorta on Sunday. The Vikings, arguably the best team in the NFL right now, travel to St. Louis needing only a win to clirich home-field.

Clinch home-field advantage in the NFC. Yet they are 3.5-point under dogs against the defending Super Bowl champions. When the Rams started 6-0, the only problem was defense - they scored more than 40 a game and allowed 32. Then Bud Carson returned as a consultant and it began to improve as the offense declined.

Picabo races time in comeback bid

VAL D'ISERE, France (AP) — Picabo Street knows she's racing against time.

After two years away from rac ing because of assorted leg injuries, a tearful Street returned tw World Cup skiling Wednesday, finishing 34th in a super-G won by Regine Cavagnoud of France.
The 29-year-old American is the Olympic champion in this event but she finished far back, 2.56 seconds behind the winner.
"I'm satisfied with the fact I really expected from myself today," said Street, wiping tears from her-eyes after the race. "Ifeel such relief. That's why I keep cryping."

She was joined in her come back by two other veterans. Alexandra Meissnitzer of Austria, the 1999 World Cup overall, super-G and giant slalom champion, finished a respectable seventh in 1:29.89. Pernilla Wiberg of Sweden, the 1997 overall World Cup champion, was 23rd, 2.17 seconds off the pace.
Cavagnoud won her first World Cup super-G title of the season after finishing runner-up twice in North America.
She completed the Oreiller-Killy course in 1 minute, 28.72 seconds, a comfortable 47 seconds a head of Michaela-Dofmeister of Austria, the winner of the season's opening super-

Carole Montillet gave France
another reason to celebrate, placing third in 129.26.

"It's also been a long time since there have been two French girls on the podium," Cavagnoud said,
"We've broken a lot of curses here today."

Street knows there's little time

We we broken a lot of curses here today." Street knows there's little time left for her on the World Cup circuit. But she is intent on competing at the 2002 Winter Games in Salt Lake City, where she hopes to win a medal or two.
"If I can beat time I can be good again, but if time beats me then my time has passed," said Street, who tied young teammate Jonna Mendes on Wednesday.

Wife seeks encouraging word

DEAR ABBY: I have been mar-ried for 17 years. My husband never tells me I look pretty. I know some women reading your column will think, "Who cares what somebody else thinks of you?" He tells my daughter she looks pretty - and the girls in his office - so I know he knows how to give a compliment.

Jooks pretty - and the girls in his office - so I know he knows how to give a compliment.

Abby, I am not overweight. I wear makeup and get my hair cut every six weeks. I am not homely. I shower twice a day.

A year ago I told my husband how I felt. Now the only time he says anything complimentary to me is when we are in bed. Too late! I need to hear encouraging words. Every woman needs to hear that she's attractive.

If you print this, maybe it will alert some nice husband out there who has been withholding to say. "Honey, you look pretry today." I'll sure go a long way with his wife.

DESPERATE.

DEAR ABBY Abigail VanBuren

DEAR DESPERATE: You hit the nail on the head when you described your husband's behavior as "witholding."

The next step is to discover why he would deliberately withhold something from you that you told him you needed.

And while you're at it, ask yourself why it took 16 years to tell your husband what you wanted from him.

your husband what you wanted from him.

I suspect there are problems in your marriage that you haven't mentioned in your letter. Perhaps when they're resolved, you'll receive the strokes you crave.

Please, Abby, ask your readers to keep such items INSIDE their homes for their own enjoyment. Then maybe the rest of us can have a "silent night."

spring semester, which begins Jan. 22.

Mason said the best qualified students in his courses have taken or are taking computer-aided design, basic math, sheen metal-electronics, mechanical drawing and blueprint reading.

The industry also needs sales and marketing representatives who have good technical and business backgrounds. Heating and aid to conditioning sales and business marketing jobs are paying as much as $100,000 a year, according to information provided to Mason. The same source said computer-aided HYACR design specialists are often starting at $40,000 a year.

WasiinGton - Petitoning the government when the chips are down may be a favorite American pastime, but when it comes to record-high natural gas prices, U.S. consumers are in for a disappoinment if they expect help from Uncle Sam this winter.

"There are few levers that the government has - or maybe no levers- in the commodity market in order to affect price" of natural gas, Mark Mazur, acting chief of the Energy Administration, told BridgeNews. Marur's office estimates residential customers will gay a whopping 44 percent more for natural gas this winter than they did last winter. Frices soared Thursday to an all-time high of $9.539 per thousand-cubic feet on the New York market. EIA and industry analysts blame high prices on flat production rates and burgeoning demand for natural gas, a cleaner-burning alternative to coal and oil for producing electricity. Cold weather, too, has been putting pressure on the market. Mazur, taking a long-term view, said higher prices would fill corporate coffers and encourage companies to go out and drill for more gas. But as for this year, he said: "The problem is it's kind of too late for this heating season."

Kimberly's Main Street bustles

KIMBERLY – In the past six weeks, residents have seen a bunch of changes on Kimberly's Main Street after years of empty Main Street after years of empty buildings in the business area.

This week sees two grand openings for establishments that aren't newcomers. The Persons grocery store has had a major remodeling, and Leslie's Barbet & Styling Shop has moved next to the post office.

The grocery store has had a major remodeling, and Leslie's Barbet & Styling Shop has moved next to the post office.

The grocery store is hosting a two-week celebration which features drawings for a mountain bike, a one-man pontoon fishing boat – with fish finder and electric motor – and numerous lesseriems on the two Saturdays.

Dorothy Persons bought the small grocery store that was behind the service station owned by Rich and Lola Richardson on the corner of Main and West Center Street in 1951. She wanted to involve her children Ed and Barbara Thompson in the business, and the first fall the three of them worked in the potato harvest to make payments on the struggling business while teen aged borothy Hamby tended the store.

aged Dorothy Hamby tended the store.

Time saw the business grow, and the small store moved to the north side of the parking lot at the present location. Many enlargements brought it the point that a year ago owner Naomi Thompson decided it needed a massive updating, which replaced all the refrigerated units with larger and more visual units, added new displays and made general improvements. The store is more a fubilise foods outlet due to the phasing out of the IGA line in the Magic Valley by grocery distributor Fleming Foods.

Jeff Cundick of the BLM said the agency had not issued any competitive leases for nearly 20 years before last summer; when it received bids from Monsanto, Astaris and Agrium for two leases adjacent to the Dry Valley mine.

"Simplot was the high bidder on both of those two," he said, adding the company phid about $5 million for the tracts.

"By every indication, there's mineable phosphate there. As for the best way to mine, nobody knows yet," he said.

The project will require nine miles of mining roads to be built or rebuilt. But Cundick said the reads would not be open to the public and the disturbed land will be reclalmed.

Home Depot hires outsider as new CEO

Knight Ridder News Service

ATLANTA - The first outsider to run the world's largest home-improvement retailer will have some big boots to fill.

Indeed, General Electric's Robert L. Nardell, Home Depot's new chief executive and president, is leaving one American legend for another. In 20 years, Home Depot, which how has a Twin Falls store, turned its doityourself seal into a national pastime and aims to take that success across the world.

The appointment of Nardelli signals that Home Deput has matured far beyond its scrappy roots, analysts said. And it's particularly timely as Home Deput battles economic and operational issues at home Deput.

Earnings warning sends market down; blue chips tumble lower

NEW YORK (AP) – Earnings worries ignited another selloff on Wall Street Thursday after Goldman Sachs lowered its forecast for Microsoft and two other high-tech firms became the latest companies to predict disappointing results.

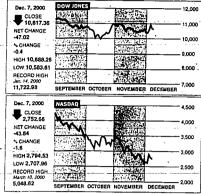

A warning from Intel after the market closed raised the possibility of more selling Friday, although analysts were unsure how much of a surprise the news was. And Intel actually rose 31 cents to $32.63 in after-hours trading, while other tech stocks showed no significant declines.

"We've been living through an intense period of warnings from computer companies and, at this point, if you don't know personal computer sales are slowing, you're living under a rock, "said Kevin Caron, associate strategist at Caruntla & Co. "The surprise factor becomes less and less. The market already knows what's happened and has adjusted to it."

At the end of regular trading Thursday, the Nasdaq composite index closed down 43.84 at 2,752.66.

Blue chips also fell. The Dow Jones industrial average tumbled indusous, use the control of the con

sion of declines - the latest selloff in a trend dating back to Labor Day -caused by concerns that the moderating economy would hur corporate profits. The uncertainty has been exacerbated in recent weeks by a series of earnings warnings from companies including Ford, Office Depot, Gateway and, this week, Apple Computer and Bank of America. A similar round of pre-announcements during the third-quarter prompted massive selloffs, but analysts expect the reaction to these latest announcements to be less severe because stock values have fallen so much already.

Richard Cripps, chief market already.

Richard Cripps, chief market strategist for Legg Mason, said he expected Wall Street would react more strongly to a government employment report due out Friday. "The employment numbers are a bigger deal because if they show more weakness than anticipated, that would increase the belief that the Fed will cut interest rates," he said.

the Fed will cut interest rates," he said.

The Labor Department report could provide a rallying or selling-point for-stocks because Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan has dropped strong hints that an interest rate cut is possible in the near future. Key data in the report include job creation and wage growth figures; if the numbers indicate a slowing of the economy and/or inflation, the Fed is considered more likely to push rates lower.

Albertson's boosts share buyback

BOISE – Albertson's Inc., the second-largest supermarket chain in the United States, said Thursday it has expanded its $500 million share buyback program by an additional $1 billion and announced that its chairman and chief executive officer Gary G. Michael will retire in June 2001.

The Boise, Idaho-based firm said that, under the revised buyback program, Albertson's will purchase up to $1.5 billion of its common stock between Ayr. 25, 2000 and Dec. 6, 2001.

Albertson's, which operates over 2,500 reinil stores in 36 states across the United States, has bought back 14.6 million shares worth $350 million under this program in the third quarter.
Albertson's said its board officectors will immediately form a committee to review internal and external candidates for CEO Michael's successor. Michael, 60, has spent 35 years with Albertson's and 10 years as CEO.

Shares of Albertson's closed up 81 cents, or 3.75%, to $22.5 on the 10 cents, or 3.75%, to $22.5 on the 10 cents of the 10 cents for few 4. Albertson's directors declared a regular quarterly cash dividend of 19 cents per share. The cash dividend will be payable Feb. 10 to stockholders of record at the close of business Jan. 15.

The Boise-based retail food and drug chain, which has stores in Burley and Twin Falls, operates more than 2,500 stores in 36 states.

Jobless claims fall; labor, market still cooling

WASHINGTON (AP) - New claims for state unemployment insurance dropped last week but remained at a level that indicates the red-hot labor market is cooling the red-not most measuring.

The Labor Department reported Thursday that initial applications for jobless benefits fell by 9,000 to a seasonally adjusted $25,000 for the week ending Dec. 2. That was the lowest level since Nov. 18. Many analysts had been expecting unemployment claims to rise.

"Jobless claims have trended."

"Jobless claims have trended up in the last few weeks, indicating that job growth is slowing," said Karen Dexter, economist for Merrill Lynch.

The more stable four week moving average of jobless claims, which smoothes out week-to-week volatility, rose to 345,250, the highest point since July 18, 1998, when claims were at 355,250.

355,250.

The Federal Reserve has raised interest rates six times since June 1999 to slow the economy enough to keep inflation in check but not so much as to cause a recession.

The economy slowed dramatically in the third quarter, growing at an annual rate of 24 percent, compared with the second quarter's sizzling 5.6 percent rate. As the economy moderates, many economists believe the nation's unemployment rate in November will rise to 4 percent from October's 30-year low of 3.9 percent. The government release the employment report Friday. Even though the tight labor market has been loosening around the edges in recent months, businesses still are struggling to find qualified workers to fill openings.

cent cote de boeut tot one," and there are plenty of takers. When one recent diner asked a harried waiters about the beef, she muttered to herself, "Where is that paper?" Finding the well-thumbed flyer that circulated with the menus, she plunked it down on the table.

Constant media reports of mad ow disease had created "insecurity" among customers, it said, but since Chez Andre's beef was "perfectly followed" at every stage, it was "guaranteed."

Even McDonald's displays a sign at each of its 800 franchises in France announcing that its pure hamburger beef comes from choice cuts well removed from the spine or other suspect parts of cattle.

Scientists say such assurances may suggest a lower risk and calm anxieties but are hardly ironclad guarantees of safety.

Franz Fischler, EU agriculture commissioner, warned reporters in Paris that too little was known about how the disease develops and spreads to be certain about heading off an epidemic.

Testing can detect infected carcasses, but if infection has not reached a certain level, harmful beef can slip through screening.
Already 90 people are dead or dying, mostly in England but also in France. Uncounted others are infected but do not know it.

But up market shops like Robert's and Boucheries.
Wiveraises, and restaurants at every level, are ringing up sales.
"This is a serious thing, all right," Dantcikian said in Draguignan, as his regulars nod-ded agreement. "But so is beef, Maybe this will elliminate that junk the industrial people sell.

Palestinian and Israeli kids suffer psychologically Knight Ridder News Service

BEIT JALA, West Bank – Soon after Israelis helicopter gun ships began retallatory bombardments near her house, 8-year-old Ragda Sarasra al-Alazy had a nightmare. "Soldiers are shooting and I am standing in the middle saying, Don't shoot me. Please, don't shoot me," the Palestinian child said quietly. Across a steep valley from Beit Jala, in the Jewish suburban Jerusalem settlement of Cilo, Bar Levy, 6, can't sleep at night because he's afraid that Palestinians in Beit Jala will fire into his house.

As the latest Palestinian Inifiada, or uprising, against Israell rule enters its third month, the bullets are still flying and violence is likely to continue even as diplomatic moves pick up before an Israeli election next spring.

Increasingly, children on both sides of the new guerrilla-style war are affected psychologically.

Palestinian Beit Jala and Israeli Gilo, both of which lie between – Jerusalem and Bethlehem, provide parallel images to the eyes of the frightened children whose worlds are rocked by a conflict not of their making.

Some of the Palestinian childern who have been killed were caught passing by gunfire, as was 12-year-old Mohammed al-Dirra of the Gaza Strip, whose death after owering with his father behind a concrete barrel was broadcast around the world. Other victims are less well known, such as 13-year-old Mujad Usma Jawarish of Aida refugee camp near Bethlehem, who was shot dead on his way home from school.

Many Palestinian children have relatives who have been killed or wounded or who have witnessed shootings, either with live fire or rubber-coated steel buillets.

For the children of Jerusalem's Old City, the sacred area on and around the Haram al-

That was a day after former Israeli Frime Minister Ariel Sharon, whom Arabs hold responsible for the massacre of Palestinian refugees in Beirut, Lebanon, in 1981, angered Muslims by visiting the site, which is holy in both Judaism and Islam.

In the end, 45 unarmed Acteal villagers – Roman Catholic Indian pacifists committed to nonvolent struggle for indigenous rights – lay dead. Diego Perez Jimenez lost seven members of his family in the massacre, committed by paramilitaries backed by members of the ruling party trying to maintain control over the area's impoverished Indians.

— But today, in this mountain village whose name is an emblem for the bloody seven-year struggle here in the southern state of Chiapas, Perez said he sees new hope for peace since last Friday's inauguration of President Vicente Fox. And he said that if Fox can restore hope to this heartbroken place, maybe he can bring it to all of Chiapas.

"The last government brought us the massacre and, pain, but with Vicente Fox we are hoping for a new world," Perez said, standing before a wall where the victims' photos are hung around a large, wooden cross, illuminated by two candles. "I am a victim of this war, and I think we are going to see a change in our lives."

Fox has given the people of Acteal what they have not had since the massacre: hope. But turning hope into peace will be far harder here in this violent stew of rebels and soldiers, pover-

The Chiapas conflict is often described as a simple struggle for a better life for Indians; during the campaign, Fox boasted that he could end it in 15 hinutes. But Chiapas is actually an overlapping web of tensions, some recent and some ancient. It's a struggle between Indian and non-Indian, rich and poor, large landowners and poor landowners, the army and clandestine paramilitary groups, traditional Catholics and Protestant Evangelicals.

groups, traditional Catholics and Protestant Evangelicals. Fox has quickly put Chiapas at the top of his agenda. The tens of housands of Mexican army troops here have already pulled back from roadside checkpoints that have existed for years. Fox has promised to send legislation to Congress calling for enactment of a never-ratified 1998 peace accord with the Zapatista rebels who have led the armed uprising. He has promised to end the chronic poverty and discrimination against Mexico's indigenous communities that led to the rebellion. THE ACES ON BRIDGE®

Bobby Welff

- William Blake

Arvall-Texan women's team represented the United States in the World Team Olympics last fall. Mildred Breed and Shawn Quinn (Austin). Petra Hamman, Joan Jackson and Peggy Sutherlin (Dallas), and Robin Klar (Houston) went on to win the Women's Team Championship. Captalined by Bob Hamman, Dallas, they defeated attended the Hamman Dallas, they defeated attended the U.S. women in their semifinal match against Norway.

East's double of North's five-club bid was lead-directing against an expected heart contract by South. However, when South jumped to six hearts, East had no justifiable reason to repeat her desires for a club lead. The second double alerted South to the impending dangers (the first double may have been obfuscation), and she moved quickly to six no-trump. Here, there were more than enough tricks to ensure success, and the U.S. team picked up an 11-IMP swing. (In the replay, Norway stopped at game.)
What would have happened had East resisted the impulse to repeat the lead-directing message? A club lead would have given East a ruff, and the spade ace would have led to a one-trick set. Instead of losing 11 IMPs. Norway would have given East a ruff, and the spade ace would have led to a one-trick set. Instead of losing 11 IMPs. Norway would have given East a ruff, and the spade ace would have gianed 11 IMPs, a swing of 22 IMPs. With lead-directing doubles, as with other matters, once is usually enough; twice is likely to be more than enough.

Don't you deserve the star treatment?

Not only will you be impressed with Sable LS Premium's wealth of standard equipment, you'll also feel safe

Because with the Government's highest crash test rating—five stars—Sable is as safe as it gets. And if you take advantage of your Mercury Dealer's $329/month lease for 36 months with only $2,279 cash due at signing, you won't be sorry, either. But if you want the star treatment, you've got to get to your Mercury Dealer today.
